Dear Mr. Woodhouse:

Yours of December 27th at hand.

I thank you for your offer to help in the development of dirigibles, but at present the funds are ample for the purpose, as both the Army and the Navy have authority to obtain them, and money available. The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics naturally would not enter the field under the circumstances, unless called upon officially for suggestion or advice by the Departments concerned.

Wishing you and the Aero Club a prosperous New Year,

Truly yours,

Charles D. Walcott
